

COLLABORATING
TO IGNITE THE EXTRAORDINARY
IN OUR COMMUNITY

CCMpower

consists of friends, advocates and alumni dedicated to empowering students and igniting possibilities through scholarship opportunities and so much more.

Together our membership dollars support student awards and grants, which help fund travel opportunities, master classes with top artists and collaborative projects in the community.

We help attract the best and brightest talent to enrich our community and fuel the future of the arts.

Every contribution provides vital support towards the core education, performance and research mission of CCM's students and faculty. Your support allows CCM to retain its distinction as one of the top ranked educational institutions for the performing and media arts.

“The CCMpower scholarship has given me the opportunity to keep growing to my potential as a student and as a stage performer. CCMpower has made an investment in me, and I promise to take this opportunity by continuing to pursue excellence in my education. I am so appreciative of CCMpower’s generosity, support and belief in me as a CCM student.”

AREO KELLER, '18 Musical Theatre
CCMpower Student Scholarship Recipient

“The CCMpower scholarship allows me to focus solely on my studies here at CCM, and for that I am eternally grateful. Your inclination to give back is extremely admirable and further encourages me to give back to future music students. Thank you!”

ALLIE KRAMER, '19 Music Education
CCMpower Student Scholarship Recipient

“CCMpower members afforded me the unique opportunity to pursue an art project that simply would not have been possible without their generous support. Creating music and engaging others is my passion, and CCMpower made my artistic dreams a reality. I sincerely appreciate all that CCMpower members have done for me and other students who were able to create music because of their support.”

JAMES TILLMAN, '17 Commercial Music Production
CCMpower Student Awards & Grants Recipient

“Of the approximately 350 arts schools in the United States, the School for Creative and Performing Arts is the only public K-12 combined arts and academic program in the country. For almost a half-century, we have educated and prepared the next generation of Cincinnati’s emerging artists. The partnership that we share with CCM helps our students to shine – to stand out when they step onto stages, near and far, from Broadway to LA and beyond. But the aspect of our partnership that we’re most proud of is the impact of CCMpower’s scholarship to SCPA. We are truly grateful that CCM alumni and donors not only support their own students through scholarship funds, but that CCMpower also supports SCPA as a valued community partner.”

NICK NISSLEY, Doctor of Education, Executive Director, School for Creative and Performing Arts
CCMpower Community Outreach Grant Recipient

“I was a special education teacher using music therapy in the classroom and worked with one child in particular, a child with autism named Latron. He learned to use music to communicate, opening up a whole new way for him to interact with the world around him. Latron inspired me to create Melodic Connections, a community music-studio serving people of all abilities. CCMpower provided funding for Melodic Connections’ Music in the Schools program, which brings music therapy-based learning into 24 area special education classrooms. This program is near and dear to my heart, and CCM is the reason I started Melodic Connections eight years ago. Through the Music in the Schools program, I and our staff of board-certified music therapists reach more than 300 students and educators in 24 classrooms across Greater Cincinnati. I am so grateful to CCMpower for sharing my vision that music has the power to change lives for the better.”
